The latest equipment and

During recent years, growth at R-B necessitated an expansion of classroom and laboratory facilities. The growth came not only from an increase in enrollment but also from a demand for more scientific knowledge. To fulfill the needs of our school, the new building addition was completed and opened this year.

The new facilities have provided a chemistry laboratory which can accommodate seventy-two pupils and a physics laboratory with a capacity of forty-eight pupils. These rooms are surrounded by smaller, private work and seminar rooms where students can do individual experiments, take tests, or hold teacher-student conferences, isolated from the rest of the class. Two large lecture rooms, one specially designed for science presentations, provide a place where teachers may demonstrate experiments or give formal lectures.

The second floor of the new addition contains classrooms for the mathematics department. In addition to space for educational purposes, there is a Student Commons area which is ideally suited for a number of activities.

The homemaking department was provided new facilities to take the place of the old bungalow which had been torn down to make room for the new addition. Housed in the first floor semi-circular section is the distinctively designed Crescent Room for practical use by the homemaking students.

A large basement construction provided an indoor track practice area and additional physical education space. All of the building addition facilities were ready for use at the start of the 1961-1962 school year.

Besides the new building, another area of the old R-B building was completely remodeled for use by the art department.

All this construction, remodeling, and furnishing was provided through a bond referendum for $985,000, proposed by the Board of Education and approved by the citizens of the R-B school district. At a dedication program for the new addition on November 5, 1961, the additional educational opportunities afforded by the new facilities became a challenge in their use.

The 1962 Rouser Reviews

R-B's Changeable Moods

ANXIETY . . . GAIETY . . .
WORRY . . . PRIDE . . .
RELIEF . . . AWE . . .
ATTENTION . . . ENTHUSIASM . . .
FRUSTRATION . . . STUDIOUSNESS

During the past year the people of R-B created numerous moods in their surroundings and activities. Each member of the administration, each teacher, and each student contributed a varying mood to the atmosphere of the school. These moods never repeated themselves, and no day was like any other.

There was the anxiety felt by students on a report card day while, on the same day, they felt relief to think that they could start anew for another six weeks' period. During the weeks of semester exams there was an atmosphere of tenseness, and the students felt numb until they had completed all of their exams. A complete feeling of relief was experienced when they received their semester grades.

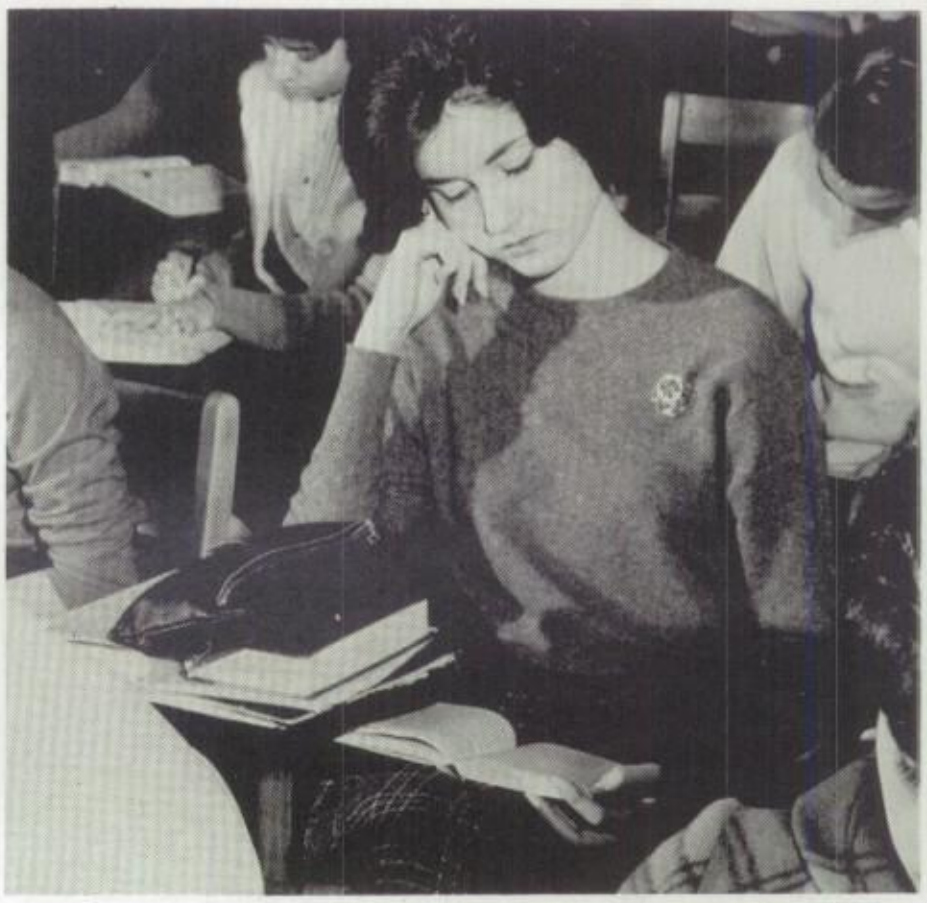
By the time the holidays arrived, everyone felt as though he needed the coming variation in routine. These periods were looked forward to with anticipation while, when they ended, everyone re-entered his activities with a revitalized vigor.

Since each of us is basically different, we created differing atmospheres around us, and as we worked with different people at various times, the moods around us altered. Varying classes appealed to the diversified personalities because of their distinctive characteristics. As each student found that the moods of his classes contrasted and varied with his teachers and fellow students, individual teachers also knew that none of their classes was alike because of the unmatched personalities and natures of their students.

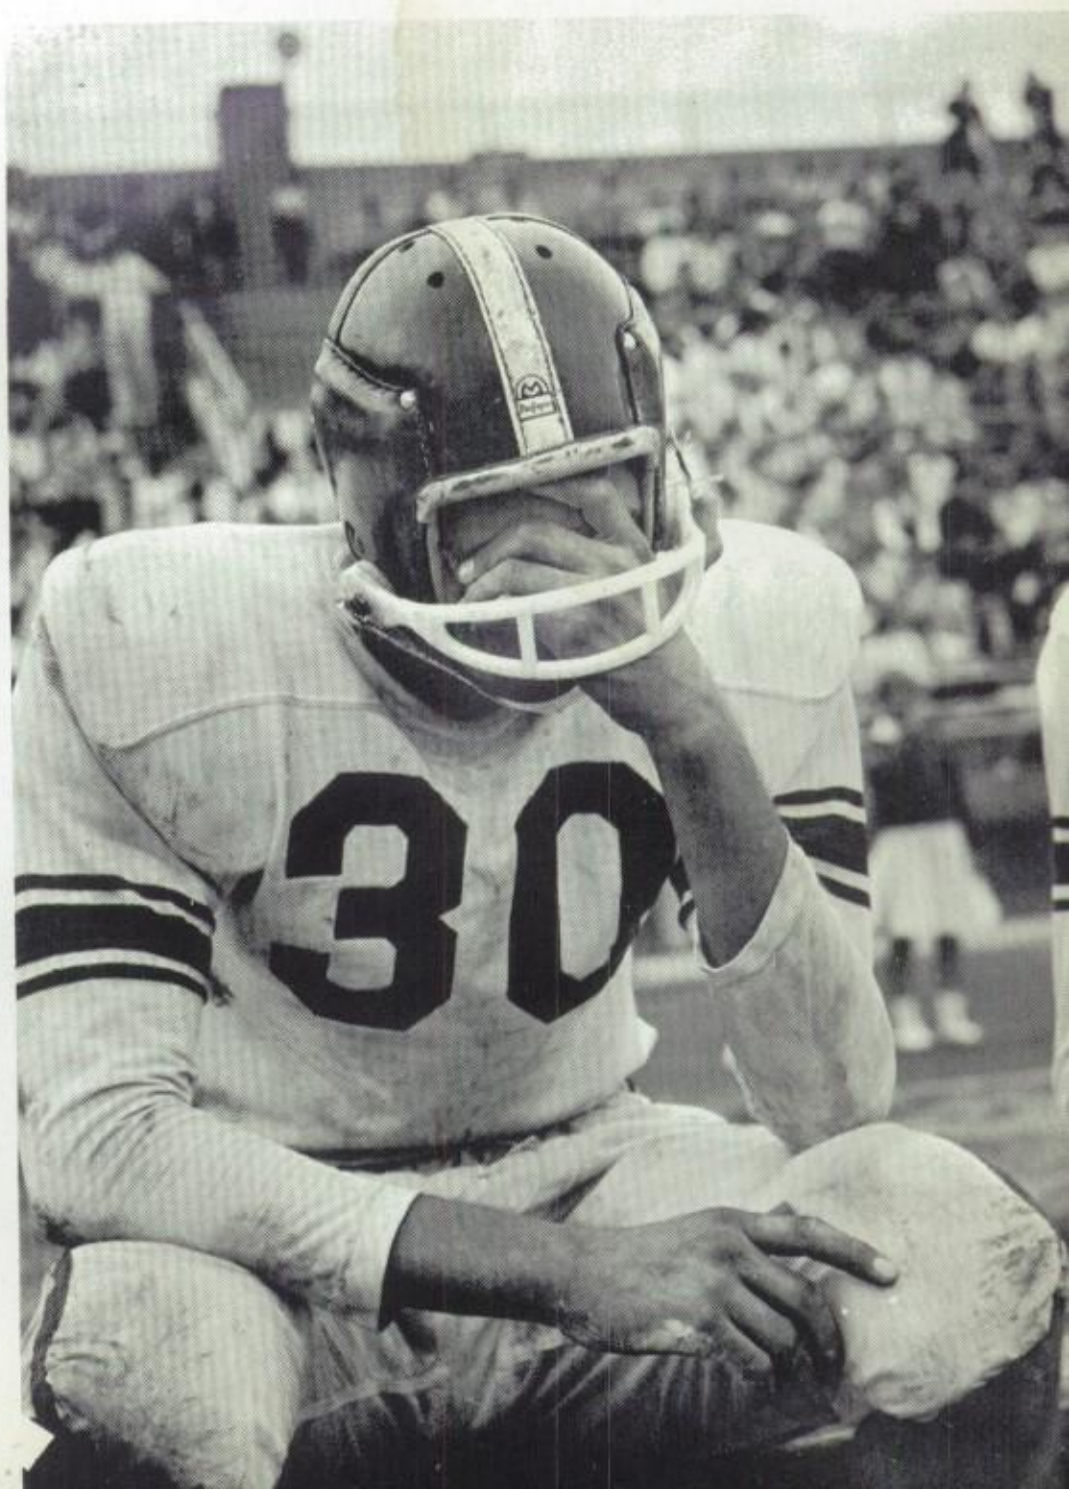
All of the extra-curricular activities originated their own atmospheres which appealed to distinct types of people. Students entered into a variety of activities because of the special mood created in each activity. Similarly, each faculty member was interested in sponsoring a different type of organization. With this variety of interests displayed by both students and faculty members, school life seldom became boring.

The members of each class created their own moods: the freshmen had a fresh, eager outlook on high school life; the sophomores assumed a knowing attitude now that they were no longer freshmen; the juniors were hard-working, prom-planning students eagerly awaiting the leadership of the school. Among all of this creativity and eagerness, the seniors possessed an attitude which suggested uncertainty under their thin shells of sophistication. But under all of this uncertainty and seriousness there was a carefree attitude which only a high school atmosphere can provide.

It is through these varied moods that the ROUSER will tell the story of R-B's 1961-1962 school year.



R-B's moods reflected all aspects of school life



Classroom

Halls and classrooms mirrored the moods of industrious students in their pursuit of a successful academic year. Streams of students thronged the halls in a noisy hubbub of friendly greetings, slamming lockers, and hurried footsteps. The shuffle diminished to a trickle of late-comers as the bell brought silence and order. Each classroom reflected its individual mood, from the whirr of the shop wing to the melodious strains in the orchestra room. The strict formality of a team-teaching American history class contrasted sharply with the informal, unhurried atmosphere of the homemaking department's Crescent Room. Nervous students fidgeted over an essay test in senior English, while in a speech class, orators dramatized Shakespeare. Students reflected the many moods of a busy school year in their attitudes and steady stride toward varied goals.

Modern facilities and teaching techniques offered

In the quiet atmosphere of this study hall, students find it easy to devote attention to the completion of their daily assignments.

Through participation in the classroom, students acquire new skills.

Students meet at their lockers to discuss the various events of the day.

R-B-ites opportunities for academic achievements

Through careful analysis, Joan Michalcik and Linda Mott! collect data on the dehydration of water, using information obtained in chemistry class.

Melody Michal, Karen Fish, and LaVerne Kosar gain office experience by preparing materials for mailing in an office practice class.

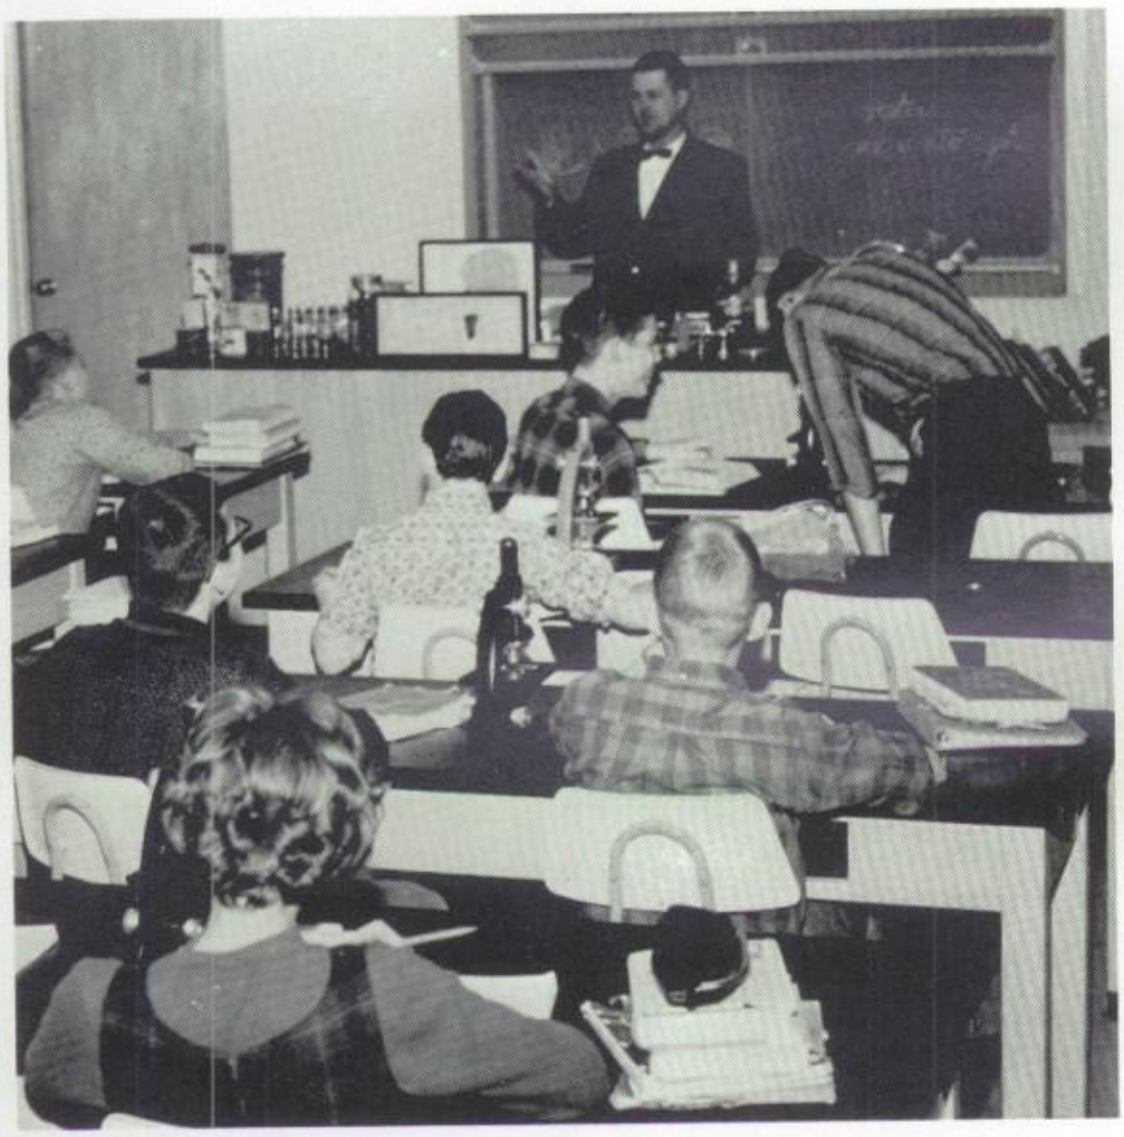
Desire to learn motivated students to higher goals



"Many organisms invisible to the human eye can be viewed under your microscopes," explains Mr. Baran to his freshman biology class before they begin an important experiment.

"Springtime in Paris" is the theme of a mural being painted in the language lab by Marcia Smith and Karen Uhlich.

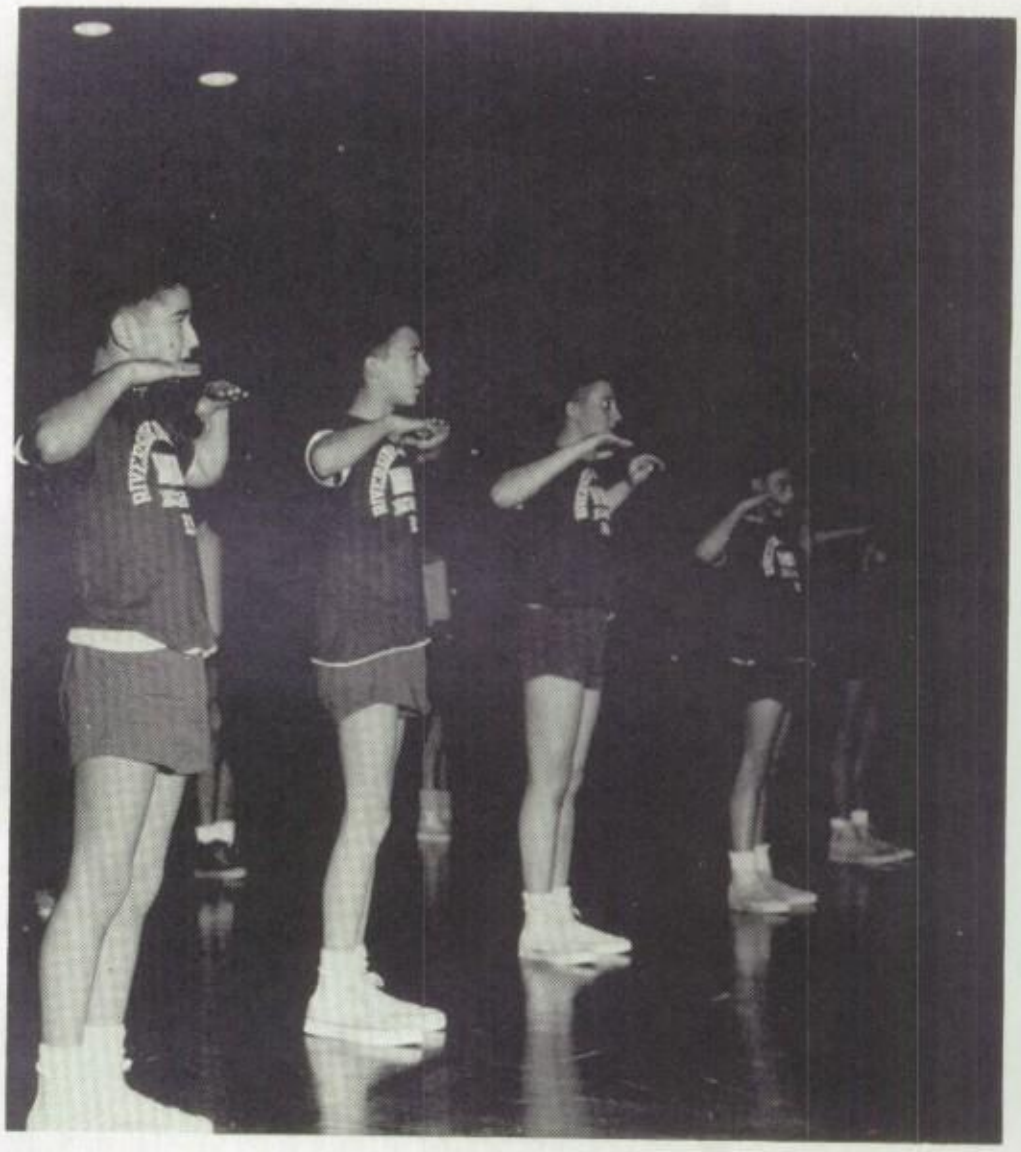
In performing their task of cleaning the Crescent Room, Nancy Hoff and Carolyn Peterka accomplish their aim by making it "spic-and-span."



Regular exercise in physical education helps keep these freshman boys trim.

Progress was attained in

In transmitting school information to various local and metropolitan newspapers, Mr. William Mohrhusen, Public Relations Director, utilizes the stenographic and the typing abilities of his two assistants, Carolyn Collett and Virginia Fie.

Silently chanting, "Knit one, purl two," Mrs. Sandahl's Home-making II class experiments with newly acquired knitting skills

Ray Matzelle, engrossed in his industrial arts projects, adds the final touch.

Faculty and Administration

Striving daily to guide and accelerate the students, the teachers shared in the many moods of R-B. The entire faculty and administration set its sights on one goal: to advance every student's interest and ability. Faculty members showed enthusiasm and dedication in their relationships with the students. Affected by the students' moods, teachers were solemn on exam days, contemplative in lectures, and sincere in personal guidance. Science teachers reflected earnest concentration in the laboratory, while in history classes there was rapt attention offset by periodic humor, Concern hovered over the faces of the basketball coaches, while on the pool deck the swimming coach urged his team with anxiety. Always ready to serve the students, the cooks and maintenance crew worked quietly on the sidelines. These moods confronted students and faculty alike in their daily associations.

"Dreams, waking or sleeping, are the fabric of the future. They are the unfettered hopes, the visions unrestricted by seeming realities of the moment. Dreams set the direction and form the pattern that gives substance to what is to be.

"But it is the moods — melancholy, enthusiastic, hilarious, pensive, determined, sentimental, subdued, troubled, contented, that flavor and color the present; that encourage and inspire growth into the future. It is the somber shadow of discontent that urges changes. It is the glowing enticement of enthusiasm that moves to action — to make the dreams become reality.

"The moods that bless — or plague the students, bless, too, or plague, a school. In the midst of the turbulent teen-age world, the school is sensitive and sympathetic to students' moods. It must blend together the substance of dreams and the motivation of moods with the sterner stuff of intellectual achievement. Out of these, the school's steady strength seeks to shape the human lives of its students for the times of tomorrow."

George W Brown

GEORGE W. BROWN . . . B.A., Maryville College; Ed.M., University of Buffalo; Ph.D., University of Chicago . . . Superintendent

The District 208 Board of Education, which is responsible for all administrative planning that affects Riverside-Brookfield High School, dedicated the new building addition on November 5, 1961, and turned over the facilities, as Board president Robert W. Murphy challenged, "for the maximum benefit of the students of Riverside-Brookfield." Having dedicated the new addition and having put the facilities in use at the beginning of the 1961-1962 school year, the Board of Education completed an extensive project which had begun when a referendum was passed on April 9, 1960, authorizing the new construction.

Meeting on the first Tuesday of each month in order to discuss school problems and work toward their solution, the members of the Board of Education unselfishly served R-B by providing for the equipment and maintenance of the school's modern facilities, by employing an outstanding professional staff, by advocating a well-balanced curriculum and co-curriculum, and by encouraging educational methods and practices which would best serve the interest of our school and the community.

Each of the board members is an outstanding community leader and is elected by the residents of the area served by Riverside-Brookfield High School. The seven members of the Board of Education unselfishly devoted their time and their energies to maintaining Riverside-Brookfield High School's status as one of the nation's outstanding secondary schools.

The sound judgment and wide experience of this well-educated business man, Mr. Robert W. Murphy, benefits the school in many ways through his work as president of the Board of Education.

EDNA A. MICHAEL . . . B.M., Chicago-Bush Conservatory of Music; B.A., M.A., University of Illinois . . . Dean of Girls

Serving R-B as pupil personnel director, Miss Michael was responsible for all record keeping that affected the student body. In addition she was responsible for co-ordinating the social conduct and the discipline of R-B's 837 girls in her capacity as dean of girls. By establishing standards for proper dress and behavior, she impressed upon R-B girls that decorum is essential to their total social adjustment both in and out of high school. One of the most active faculty members, Miss Michael also co-sponsored the Sharclub organization and served as president of the Riverside-Brookfield High School Teacher's Association.

WILLIAM H. JOHNSON . . . B.S., M.S., Western Illinois University . . . Business Manager

As business manager, Mr. Johnson's main duties included serving as the school accountant and supervising the maintenance of the school building. Among these responsibilities was the purchasing of new educational materials which, this year, included the buying of equipment for the new language and science laboratories and home economics Crescent. Making good use of the new accounting system first perfected last year, Mr. Johnson effectively handled all financial reports, purchases, costs of administration, rental fees, finances within the school, and the school budget.

JOHN C. HAWORTH . . . A.B., De Pauw University, M.A., Northern Illinois University . . . Director of Instruction

As director of instruction, Mr. Haworth strove to revise and improve R-B's curriculum. He coordinated proposed ideas and changes with workable methods. His first duty affecting the 1961-1962 school year was the orientation of thirteen new teachers and guidance counselors. As head of the language department, he took a great interest in the new language laboratory, designed to initiate the "audio-lingual" technique of teaching modern languages. Mr. Haworth's duties took him beyond the calendar boundaries of the standard school year, in planning for an extensive summer school program.

LA RUE G. THOMPSON . . . B.A., M.A., University of Illinois . . . Dean of Boys

Conscientiously fulfilling his duties as Dean of Boys, Mr. Thompson was responsible for the attendance, discipline, and welfare of the 908 boys at R-B. His efforts made possible the success of the honor study hall system which enabled students to participate in study halls under the direction of a student elected supervisor. After eighteen years of dedicated service to the students and the school, Mr. Thompson relinquished his position as sponsor of School Council because of his ever-increasing administrative duties. In addition to his regular work, Mr. Thompson was frequently seen attending R-B's social and athletic functions.

Faculty

LEE E. ARTHUR . . . Mathematics Department Chairman . . . B.S., Dension University; M.A., University of Chicago

After establishing a teaching record of thirty-eight years, during which time he served as chairman of the R-B mathematics department for thirty-five years, Mr. Arthur retired this year. Active in many other fields at R-B, in the past he taught social science; coached golf, football, and basketball; and was chairman of R-B's guidance department. For five years, Mr. Arthur was in charge of all ticket sales for school activities, and was a faculty sponsor for the School Council for a time.

A prominent member of several teachers' organizations, Mr. Arthur served as president of the Lake Shore Division of the Illinois Education Association and chairman of Sections VI and VII of this same division for many years. He was active in the formation of the R-B Classroom Teachers' Association, was elected as its first president, and served as board director.

During an interview before his retirement, Mr. Arthur commented on the great change in the physical appearance of R-B over the years. He also stated, "The seriousness of purpose of the majority of students is about the same as when I began teaching here." In addition to having an outstanding faculty, he believes that R-B has a "superior student body in its attitude toward responsibility and in its behavior." Mr. Arthur vehemently believes: "Education is moving along with the times, and R-B has met its obligations and is meeting the challenges of new developments in the world."

His retirement plans may include a move to Florida where he would like to fish, play golf, and indulge in his hobby of photography. In addition, he hopes to travel through the United States by automobile in order to see as much of this country in as leisurely a way as possible.

The faculty and students of R-B extend to Lee E. Arthur — teacher, friend, and dedicated leader — Godspeed and grateful thanks.

Secretarial Staff

Forming a vital part in the proper functioning of the school were the various members of the secretarial staff. Working in the main office, Mrs. Hake served as clerical assistant while Mrs. Bartlett performed the task of keeping the books. Transcripts, attendance, and other reports and records were adequately handled by the trio in the personnel department, Mrs. Arnold, Miss Stolfa, and Miss Wolf. Students purchased supplies and equipment at the bookstore with the assistance of Miss Aldridge and Mrs. Woodcock; and Mrs. Reed, secretary to the athletic director, assisted also in the library. Mrs. Baumrucker, who served as secretary to the superintendent, helped to keep things running smoothly.

Cooks and Custodians

Working to serve the students, the COOKS AND CUSTODIANS were essential in the functioning of R-B. The cooks prepared balanced luncheons in which the student was offered a choice of several dishes each day. For those students who did not wish a hot lunch, sandwiches, milk, and desserts were served a la carte. Adding to the variety of foods, milk shakes were an attraction this year. Always on ready call, the custodians cordially assisted the faculty with maintenance problems. Through their efforts of maintenance of the building, upkeep of the grounds, and cleanliness of the building, the custodians promoted an atmosphere conductive to learning.

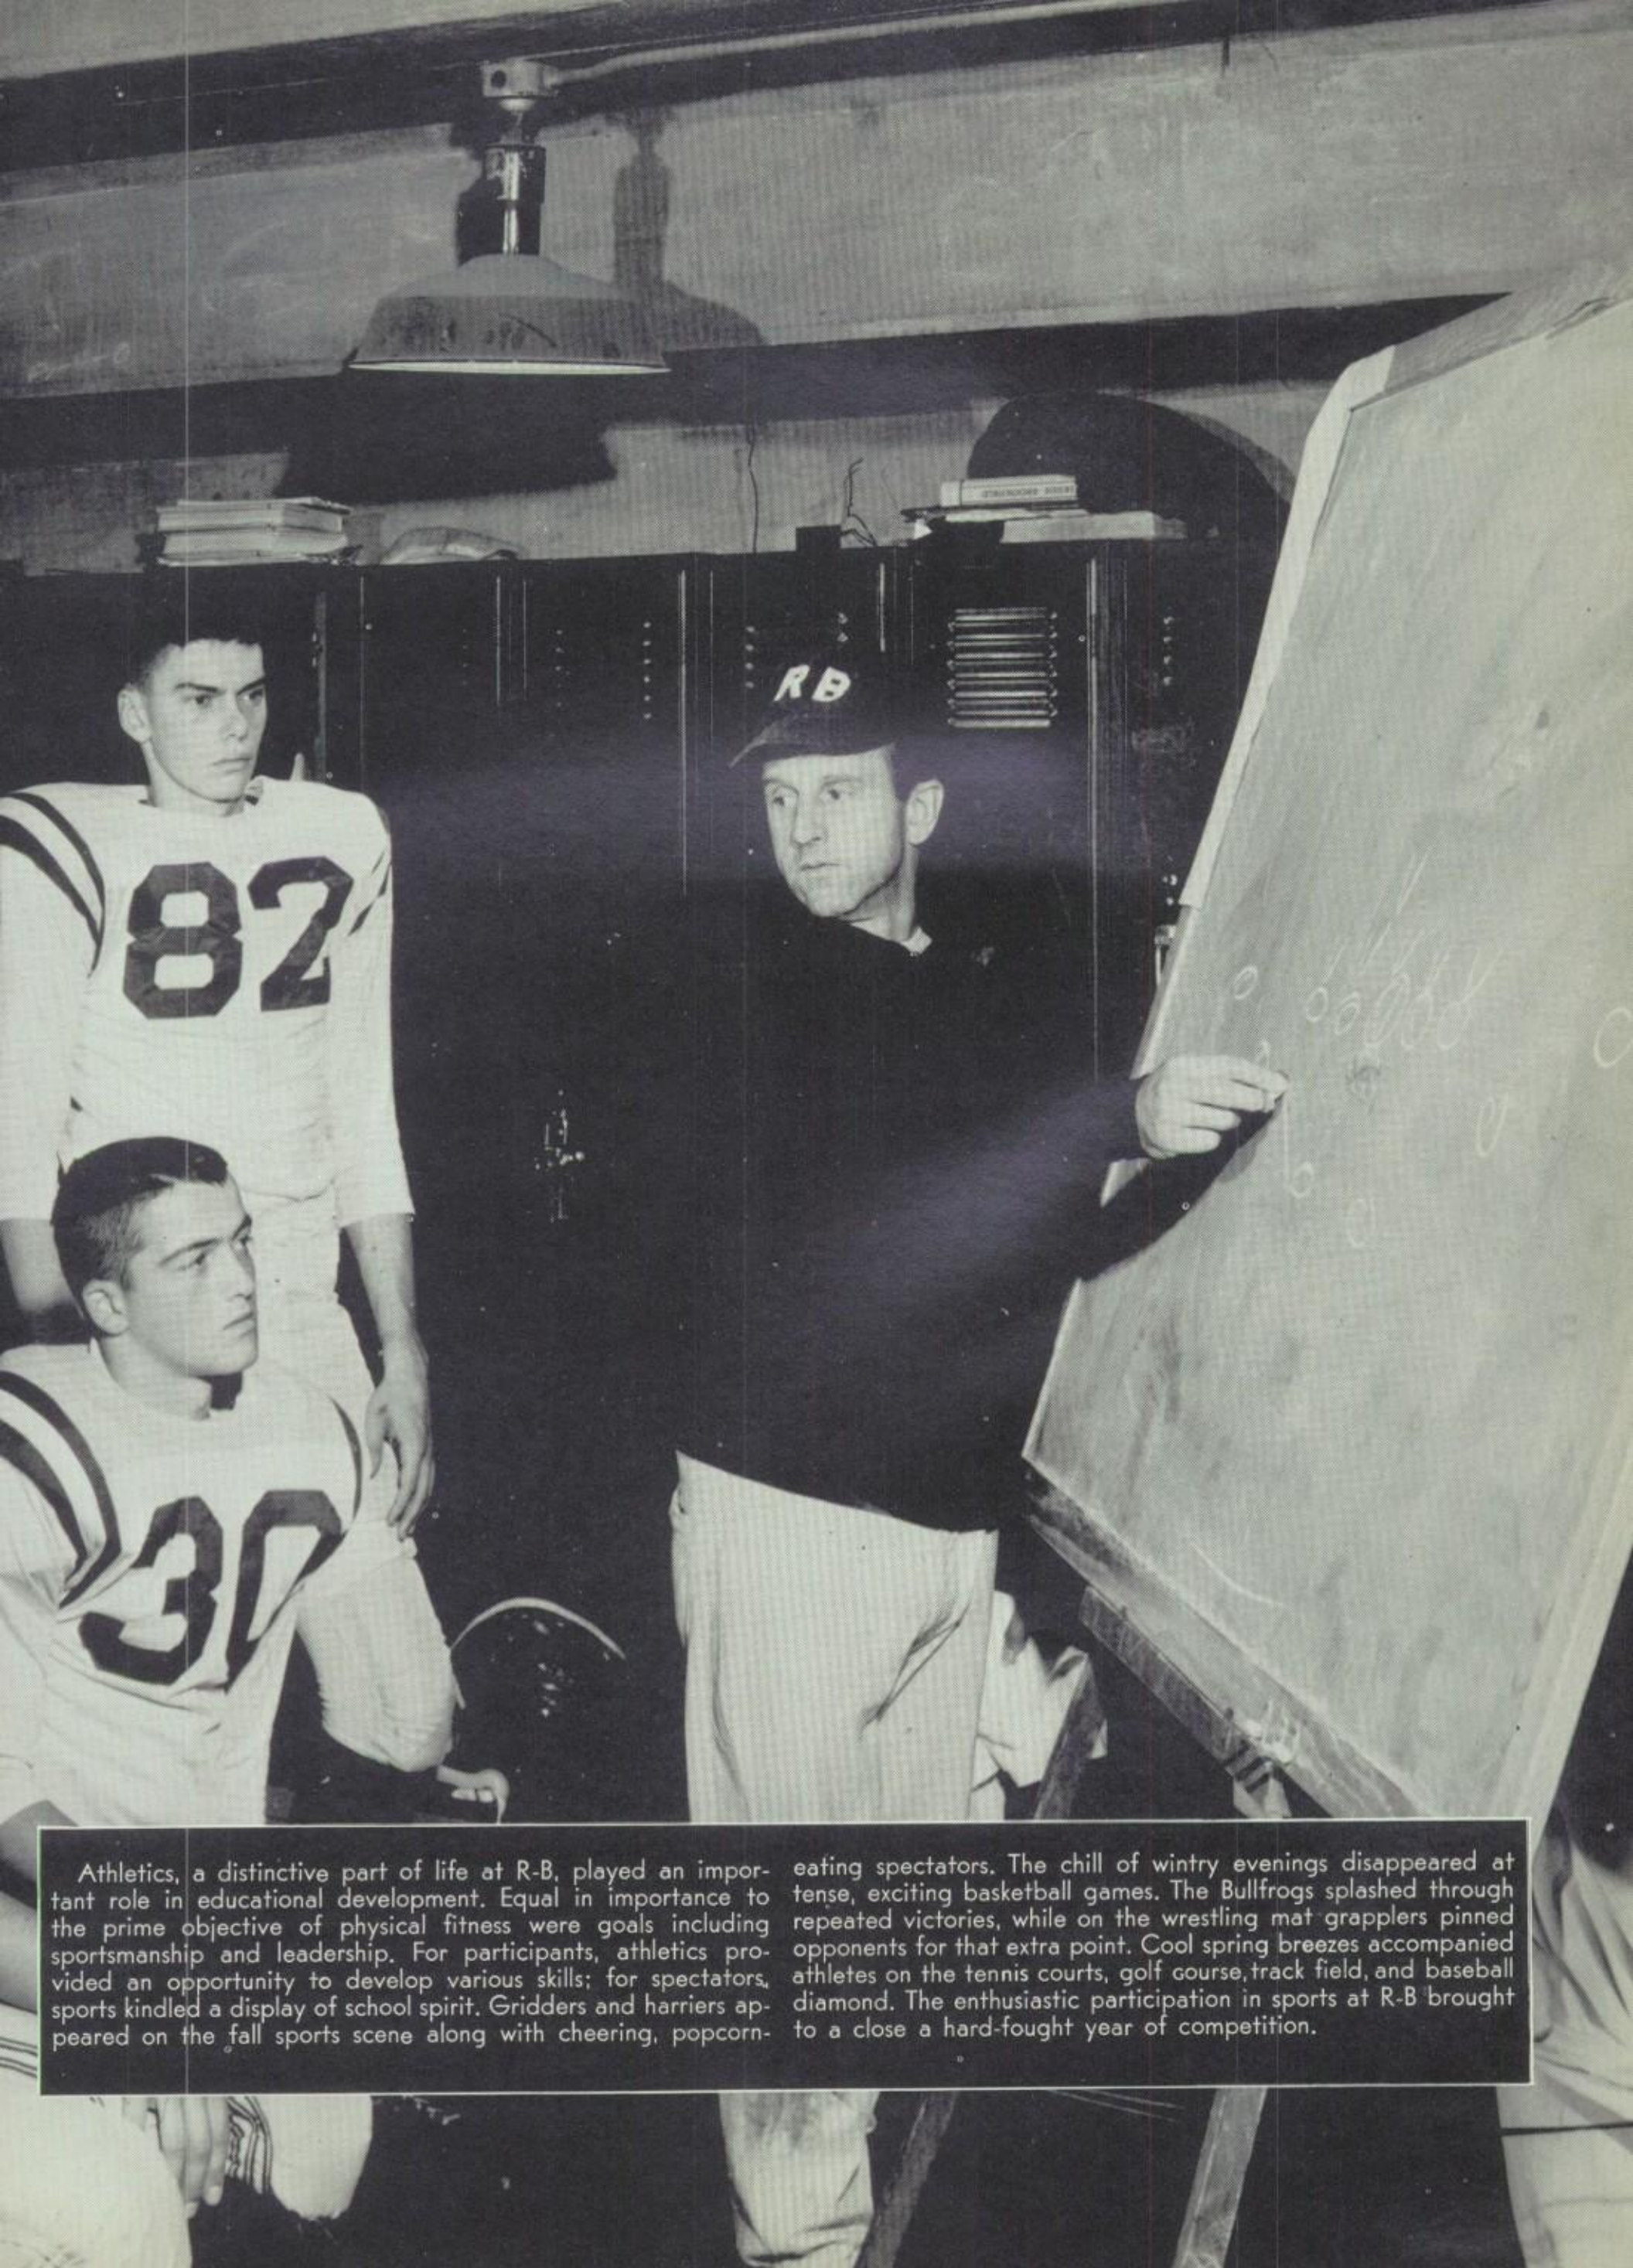
Athletics



Athletics, a distinctive part of life at R-B, played an important role in educational development. Equal in importance to the prime objective of physical fitness were goals including sportsmanship and leadership. For participants, athletics provided an opportunity to develop various skills; for spectators, sports kindled a display of school spirit. Gridders and harriers appeared on the fall sports scene along with cheering, popcorn-eating spectators. The chill of wintry evenings disappeared at tense, exciting basketball games. The Bullfrogs splashed through repeated victories, while on the wrestling mat grapplers pinned opponents for that extra point. Cool spring breezes accompanied athletes on the tennis courts, golf course, track field, and baseball diamond. The enthusiastic participation in sports at R-B brought to a close a hard-fought year of competition.

Although R-B's VARSITY FOOTBALL TEAM lost all of its games, they fought hard during the entire season. Coach Perkins, assisted by Coaches Kmieciak, Lossin, and VandeMerkt, urged the team to play to the best of their ability. In the Downers Grove contest, our team played their best game of the season. R-B was able to hold back Downers in a hard-fought game. For the first time since 1958, R-B lost its Homecoming game in a rough battle against L.T. with a 39-8 result. Maine East was able to defeat our Bulldogs by a small margin of only 6 points. Robert Polston was chosen "The Most Valuable Player" by the members of the team; and Roy Green, captain of the football team, was chosen for the West Suburban All-Conference football team.

Football

R-B's SOPHOMORE FOOTBALL TEAM displayed its tremendous playing ability by beating Hinsdale's sophomore team for the first time since 1951. The Bullpups were able to snap Hinsdale's twenty-six game winning streak which had started in 1958. Although Downers Grove beat our gridders by a score of 32-12, R-B became the first team to score against this team this year. In the R-B-L.T. game, the defeat dropped the Bullpups to a .500 mark in league play, giving the L.T. sophomores their first win of the season. The team, coached by Coaches Halverson and Leadley, fought through four rough quarters against Glenbard, only to lose with a score of 7-6. The Bullpups defeated York with a score of 20-0. The sophomore team finished the season with four wins, three losses, and one tie.

This year's FRESHMAN FOOTBALL TEAM, in their first year of high school football, learned the fundamental skills of the game. To allow more boys to play on the team, the coaches established two separate teams—the "A" Team and the "B" Team. In conference play, both the "A" and "B" Teams won 2 games and lost 4. In both the Arlington and Glenbard games, R-B's "B" Team trounced the opposition by a score of 6-0. In the Arlington game, R-B's "A" Team beat the Cardinals by a score of 7-0. Maine beat our "B" Team by only 5 points. However, L.T. defeated R-B in a hard fought game of 20-13 in the "A" game and 20-0 in the "B" game.

Basketball

The 1961-62 VARSITY BASKETBALL TEAM, under the leadership of Coaches Nikcevich and VandeMerkt, showed its fans that in the very near future it would be a WSC basketball power. Martin Berg, Randall Hrkel, and Thomas Kondla were sophomores who added strength to the varsity cagers. Although the R-B team beat Downers Grove twice, it lost heartbreakers to Glenbard West and Arlington. The biggest upset of the season occurred when the Bulldog cagers dropped eighth-ranked Carl Sandburg, 74-66 in a non-conference game. Seniors Kenneth Dober, James Uhlrich, Neal Chobot, and Robert Dolezal all aided the R-B cagers to rack up five wins and thirteen defeats in season play and two victories and twelve defeats in conference competition.

During the last seconds of the game, the Frosh-Soph team carries Coach Dudley on to the playing court celebrating their victory over previously undefeated Downers Grove.

The FROSH-SOPH BASKETBALL TEAM under the leadership of Coach Dudley compiled an impressive record which ranked them third in the West Suburban Conference with nine victories and five losses. In a game with Arlington the Bullpups came from behind and won the game in the last 45 seconds, but were defeated in an overtime with Glenbard West. The sophomores proved with their fine record that in future seasons R-B fans will view many well-played games by the up-and-coming cagers. Outstanding hoopsters were Craig Timko, Charles Pesek, and James Telizyn, who led the team to victories over first place Downers Grove and high-ranking LaGrange.

The experience and ability they gained as freshmen will be viewed by the many R-B spectators in games during the coming seasons. The team finished the season with ten wins and seven losses.

Swimming

Coached by Mr. Halverson, the VARSITY SWIM TEAM boasted one of its finest seasons with a record of 10 wins and 3 losses. The medley relay team and free-style relay team went to Evanston to compete in the state meet. During the season Robert Maxant, John Scheda, and Arthur Gramer broke the former 200 yard free style record of 1:38.6 held by Robert Gross, Robert Nolan, Robert Maxant, and Richard Anderson with a time of 1:37.8. Selected by the varsity swimmers as the 1962 Invitational Swim Meet Court were Jean Verhoeven, Kathy Kokes, and Queen Nancy Rich. An annual swimming event hosted by R-B, the Invitational Meet is the largest high school swim meet held in the country.

Coached by Mr. Wesbey, the sophomores of the FROSH-SOPH SWIM TEAM broke all of the former Frosh-Soph records but in the 50 yard butterfly event. Although the Frosh-Soph team was handicapped because seven of the sophomores swam varsity, they, nevertheless, had a good seasonal record, posting eight victories, four defeats, and one tie.

Coach Agin prepared the FROSH-SOPH WRESTLING TEAM for participation in competition by teaching them to perform the many fundamental skills involved in wrestling. The highlight of the Frosh-Soph's wrestling season was the Morton East Quadrangular Tournament in which the boys tied for first place. The team finished the season with 6 wins and 7 losses.

As Coaches Agin and Ketelsen supervise, Frosh-Soph and Varsity grapplers combine skill and agility while practicing different holds.

Under the leadership of their new coach, Mr. Ketelsen, the VARSITY WRESTLING TEAM combined hard work and enthusiasm during training sessions and in wrestling matches. Although the grapplers met stiff competition in losing all thirteen conference and non-conference matches, many of the boys were able to win their individual events. Captain Roy Green won six of his individual matches, and junior Douglas Barclay placed third in the Reavis District Wrestling Tournament.

Baseball

By playing well during the entire season, the 1961 VARSITY BASEBALL TEAM proved that a conference standing does not always indicate a team's potential strength. Under the direction of Coach Lossin, each member of the team concentrated on perfecting base running, fielding, and batting skills. The boys learned the importance of working together as a team. Typically, many of the games were rained out or postponed and had to be rescheduled. The seniors, George Lestina, Ron Cappitelli, Jim Kasal, and Paul Clark led the team to a tie for sixth place in the conference with five wins and nine losses.

The sprint relay team, consisting of Ken Batha, Richard Ristau, George Scukanec, and Ken Young, missed qualifying for this meet by three-tenths of a second. Ken Young broke R-B's 220 yard dash record in a meet at Carl Sandburg and R-B's 180 yard low hurdle record in the district meet at Morton. Another example of individual highlights was sophomore Ken Batha's tying of R-B's 100 yard dash record. The FROSH-SOPH TRACK TEAM finished the season with five wins and six losses.

Organizations

Organizations, which balanced the scholastic life of students, played a major role in shaping the moods of R-B-ites this year. Broadening the interests of students, extra-curricular activities offered a multitude of opportunities in education and recreation. Language clubs invited students to share in the culture of foreign lands, while service clubs stressed domestic advancement. Organizations spotlighting specific professions introduced their members to future careers. The sponsors of these activities were members of the R-B faculty, who unselfishly devoted their time to guiding the students and promoting leadership qualities. As guests at meetings, speakers and lecturers brought timely topics of interest to the students in an effort to further their knowledge along specific lines. In leadership and sportsmanship, R-B's organizations provided enjoyment and interest for students.

Queen Nancy Fleishman and her court, Nora Campbell, Sue Padalik, Lois Schneider, and Dotty Anderson, add a touch of beauty to the Homecoming weekend.

Homecoming

An exciting, unforgettable Homecoming weekend began on Friday night with the torch-lighting ceremony led by the newly-crowned queen and court. After the last spark died, enthusiastic students hurried to put the finishing touches to gayly-colored floats. A crisp, bright Saturday set the stage for Homecoming festivities. Following the impressive array of floats, students crowded into grandstands for the kickoff. The band and twirlers added sparkle to half-time with their varied formations. Later that night "Wanderlust" set the mood for the evening's activities.

"Wanderlust" provides a colorful ending to an unforgettable weekend.

G.A.A. members Fran Brooke, Harriet Kweton, Suzy Alexander, Judy Mulac, and Cheryl Novak put the finishing touches to their prize-winning float. "Stickin' With U."

Sharclub

The largest group membership was again claimed by SHAR-CLUB since every girl automatically becomes a member of this service club. The Senate, selected on the basis of scholarship, leadership, dependability, service, and charity, was composed of five sophomores, five juniors, and five seniors. Together with the co-sponsors, Miss Broom and Miss Michael, the Senate furnished the leadership for the organization. A Clothing Drive to provide help for less fortunate people; the annual girl-ask-boy dance; Bow Day; and the climax of the year, the Big and Little Sister Tea at which incoming freshman girls were first introduced to the friendly atmosphere at R-B, were only a few of the many projects of this active organization.

Hi-Y

Promoting Christian ideals and providing wholesome and entertaining social activities were the goals of all Hi-Y projects this year at R-B. Under the leadership of Mr. Paul Nemecek, junior and senior boys supported the annual Bundle Drive. All clothing which was contributed by the various classes was used to help less fortunate people. In order to welcome and offer their assistance to new students and faculty members, the club sponsored a Newcomers' Party. The Christmas holidays were more festive for those students who attended the club's formal dance, "Under the Christmas Tree." With the assistance of the A Capella Choir, Hi-Y's ideals were best demonstrated during the Thanksgiving and Easter assemblies when the spirit of Christianity prevailed.

School Council

SCHOOL COUNCIL, the official agency for the expression of student opinion, was composed of representatives elected by the four classes. David Cusic presided over the organization which formulated plans through weekly meetings and committee work. Council sponsored dances and assemblies for the enjoyment of the students, in addition to a Faculty Christmas party and other activities. Mr. Weiss became the sponsor of Council this fall as Mr. Thompson retired after eighteen years. "Know Your Council Week" made it possible for students to understand the organization and the functions of a governing body. Responsibility, initiative, and courage are required for democracy, and the Council helped to develop these traits in R-B's students.

Usher Club

Ushering at the various school activities proved to be very enjoyable to the group of junior and senior girls belonging to USHER CLUB. During the year, they ushered at the programs held by other R-B clubs and organizations. All of the juniors had to usher for at least three events in order to belong to the club the following year. They offered their services at fashion shows, musical presentations, school plays, and talent shows. Although their duties were many, the girls enjoyed themselves while aiding the school.

Lettermen's Club

LETTERMEN'S CLUB, as its name suggests, is an organization in which membership is limited to those athletes who earned their major athletic award. Its members were the only students entitled to wear the sweaters and jackets designating athletic achievement. Under the leadership of sponsors, Mr. Lossin and Mr. VandeMerkt; and the officers, Stephen Morse, president; William Svrluga, vice-president; and Robert Gross, secretary-treasurer, the club developed school leaders and offered the services of its members to the school.

Vocal Music

The student who enjoyed music found many avenues of expression open to him at R-B this year. The members of the BOYS' and GIRLS' GLEE CLUBS participated in the Christmas Concert, R-B Area Music Festival, and other civic programs.

Sophomores, juniors, and seniors who possessed outstanding vocal talent were invited to join the A CAPPELLA CHOIR and the MIXED CHORUS. The Christmas season took on more meaning for these people as they learned co-operatively to combine their talents in order to deliver their musical Christmas message.

Every temperament was satisfied as these vocal groups took part in singing secular and sacred music as well as popular and folk songs. Mr. Gilbert, who has been a source of inspiration to and leader of these musical groups, has guided them for six years.

In addition to group opportunities, the music department made individual voice lessons and ensemble classes available to any students desiring them. Others studied voice with private teachers, and all were eligible to participate in try-outs for solo parts in various musical programs.

Students enrolled in these activities discovered that they experienced much more than just singing with others. They used this experience as a means of self expression as well as a lesson in cooperation and discipline in order to attain a common goal. At the same time they were able to provide enjoyment for others.

Orchestra

The singing strings, mellow woodwinds, resounding brass, and rumbling of percussions formed the Riverside-Brookfield High School ORCHESTRA. The members played many classical and contemporary music selections under the direction of Mr. Collins. The string ensemble and orchestra were formulated by selected band members. Playing ability and enthusiasm for music were traits most considered as a basis for their selection. The orchestra performed for Baccalaureate, the senior commencement, the Grade School and High School Music Festival, and other civic and school programs. Students with exceptional ability participated, either as soloists or in ensembles, in the state and district contests in which many students from all over the state competed.

Band

Playing concertos, symphonies, popular songs, and marches, the Riverside-Brookfield High School BAND attempted to boost school spirit and arouse musical interest in the students this year.

Mr. Collins directed the band, which was composed of three divisions. All band members were included in the marching band, which provided half time entertainment during all home football games. The PEP BAND, comprised principally of freshmen and sophomores, played at the home basketball games, pep assemblies, and the homecoming pep rally. Playing for the senior commencement and other school programs, the CONCERT BAND made up the third and principal division.

Competition with other high school students was carried on in district and state music contests for those band members who were skilled with their instruments.

Rouser

Each ROUSER staff member had a sense of accomplishment because of his part in the production of the annual. Many hours of work went into deciding the theme and planning the general layout. Keeping in mind that the 1961 Rouser received an All-American Rating, the 1962 Rouser staff tried to equal this. With the combined efforts of the sponsor, Mr. Mohrhusen, and the editor-in-chief, Kay Grabitz, the copy staff, photography staff, and the art staff completed an interesting and well-planned yearbook. The copy staff and editor, Barbara Pawlas, interviewed the faculty and organization officers and collected the materials needed to write approximately 25,000 words of copy. Photography editors Sandra Filip and Karen Stocking and their staff members scheduled more than 4,000 pictures. The art staff, under the direction of Cheryl Novak, was responsible for planning the layouts for each page.

Six Rouser staff members attended the 41st Annual Convention of the Illinois State High School Press Association last fall. New techniques and methods in yearbook production were discussed and used in the 1962 Rouser.

Dimensions

A contest was held in order to give the students a part in renaming the literary magazine. The name chosen was DIMENSIONS. This magazine gave recognition to the literary talents of students interested in writing. Short stories and poems were donated through English teachers and students themselves. The sponsor, Miss Traphagan, and the editor, Janet Wood, and her thirteen officers and staff members selected and arranged the accepted material. Each selected article was accompanied with a pencil sketch to illustrate the theme.

Dimensions staff held bake sales to make the club better known to the students of R-B. Before the magazine was published, the staff members held an advertising campaign to promote the magazine and then took a survey of how many students wished to purchase copies.

Clarion

CLARION staff members worked with tension and excitement as their deadlines approached. With the assistance of their sponsor, staff members periodically published the important news and articles of interest to students of R-B. Members of the editorial staff met at the beginning of the week during the eighth period to plan for the publishing of the following issue. Staff members met with their editors at the end of the week to receive their individual assignments. These assignments included sports events, interviews, current events, and the scoop of the year — the announcement of Prom plans.

Jesters

Freshman and sophomore JESTERS gave their play for the student body and faculty in the spring. Early in the season this group made the decision to write their own play rather than to produce a published drama. Mr. Sanders, their sponsor, helped members to discover and develop their dramatic abilities. They increased their appreciation of drama by seeing the production of plays in Chicago. The money for props and make-up was raised by collecting dues and by holding bake sales.

Held after school, monthly meetings and special rehearsals proved interesting to all members. At some meetings several members presented short skits and plays for the entertainment and evaluation of the rest of the group.

Film Projectionists

The FILM PROJECTIONISTS, a group of twenty-five boys, served the faculty, furthered student understanding, and aroused student interest in subjects by showing educational films.

The operators, selected because of their interest and willingness to aid during free time, were trained in the operation and care of the audio-visual equipment by their sponsor, Mr. Ellingson. A captain, whose duty it was to see that film projection went smoothly, was selected for each class period.

The school presented awards to the members for their service. Those members who had participated for three years earned R-B letters. Those with one to three years of participation received bronze, silver, and gold pins.

Masque and Wig

With devotion to high ideals of dramatic achievement, the members of MASQUE and WIG presented "Our Town" as its fall dramatic production and "The Heiress" in the spring. "Our Town" proved to be interesting because of its unusual lack of scenery. Students, faculty, and parents enjoyed the presentation of these plays. The productions were achieved with the cooperation of all members and the hard work of their sponsor, Mr. Cohen. Later in the year a play was presented for Patrons' Council. Masque and Wig fostered interest in the theater; the actors and actresses spent many long hours memorizing lines, rehearsing, and perfecting their parts. Their training included the art of make-up, stage settings, and the many details involved in directing and producing a play.

Talking over the play and rehearsing their parts for Masque and Wig's play "Our Town" are James Zidlicky and Terry Krause.

Sabrina Swim Club

The highlight of the SABRINA SWIM CLUB this year was its annual water show. The theme of the show was Broadway, and with such a versatile theme, the directors created various routines ranging from jazz to popular musicals. Mrs. Lund, the sponsor of the club; officers Cheryl Novak, president; Sue Spiller, vice-president; Diane Parker, secretary-treasurer; and the members, who showed great enthusiasm, worked together and exhibited a fine water show. Sabrina held workshops not only for incoming members but also for returning members. During these workshops the former members renewed and improved techniques preparing for skill tests and the performance.

Shark Swim Club

The SHARK SWIM CLUB, a new organization this year, furthered the boys' interest in aquatic arts. The boys participated in the water show held by the girls' organization, the Sabrina Swim Club. At the beginning of the year the boys took skill tests and according to their ratings were put in routines in the annual water show. The participation of the boys added a new look and variety to the water show. Rather than having officers such as other organizations, the Shark Swim Club's governing body consisted of a board including Robert Gross, Robert Bischman, Robert Shanahan, Douglas MacLean, Robert Hickerson, Richard Anderson, and Robert Nolan. These boys were the original members and aided Mr. Wesbey in the organization of this club.

Cheerleaders

Promoting school spirit with their enthusiastic cheers, the Varsity and Sophomore CHEERLEADERS encouraged athletic teams to victories this year. Sponsored by Miss Rotello, the eight varsity and six sophomore girls were chosen for their ability to perform various jumps, for their neat appearances, and for their pleasant personalities. All faculty members rated the Cheerleaders and recommended their selections on scholarship and dependability. During the summer, several attended a convention at Illinois State Normal University, where they learned new cheers for stimulating the enthusiasm of the entire student bodv. Varsity captain Nora Campbell and sophomore captain Pam Rader led the cheerleaders in promoting school spirit at every game.

Life Guard Club

LIFE GUARD CLUB had a new sponsor this year, Miss Sandman, who, along with her co-sponsor, Mr. Halverson, suggested new ideas such as reviewing and practicing life saving skills and techniques. Under the leadership of the organization's capable officers, President Dick Anderson, Vice-president Shirley Heffernon, Secretary Nancy Rich, and Treasurer Marty Bednarik, the club took pride in their service activities. By promoting an interest in water safety, the members of the club proposed to develop an unselfish attitude in helping others. They also strove to achieve self-confidence in themselves and a sense of responsibility toward others. If any of the group were interested in obtaining summer life guard positions, Miss Sandman and Mr. Halverson helped in the placement of qualified members.

Bios Logos Club sponsor Mrs. Klein and club officers Meribeth Kovar, Ruth Severus, James Symon, and Jack Klecka plan a field trip to supplement a monthly meeting.

Bios Logos

BIOS LOGOS, the second oldest club at R-B, once again provided science students with an interesting and intellectual program. The organization, stressing a scholastic aspect rather than a social one, supplemented classroom study under the direction of Mrs. Klein. An excursion to the Brookfield Zoo, a tour through a corn oil plant in Argo, and a naturalist's lecture were some of the many and varied activities offered during the year. Enthusiastic members worked toward winning the gold service pin, which denoted its wearer's keen interest in science.

Bridle and Saddle

New this year was the BRIDLE AND SADDLE CLUB, created to further enjoyment and knowledge in the art of horsemanship. With the guidance of co-sponsors Mr. Schlueter and Miss Smith, the students learned the skills of the equestrian art. Novices gained experience in proper posture, mounting, and neck-reining. Later they applied what they had learned in various marching formations. Advanced riders rode on the trails and learned the fundamentals of jumping. The weekly riding was done at the Keith Line Riding Stables in Hinsdale.

G.A.A.

The activities of the GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION were open to all girls at R-B. Under the capable leadership of Miss Wilkens, the G.A.A. exhibited ideals of health and sportsmanship and took pride in maintaining their high standards. In addition to regular athletic activities, the G.A.A. held a wienie roast in October and a pizza party in December. This year the G.A.A. held a bowling clinic to encourage novice bowlers and to explain scoring techniques to them. This clinic also interested experienced bowlers, for it enabled them to practice before the regular bowling season started. Attending the G.A.A. workshop held in Aurora were Judith Mulac, Patricia Wright, Helen Prexler, and Margaret Powell.

Pep Club

PEP CLUB improved its organization this year through the enforcement of its regulations concerning attendance at games. Sponsor Mrs. Lund, President Sue Forester, Vice-president Jill James, Secretary Paula Nylen, and Treasurer Suzy Alexander initiated a system whereby members earned points through attendance at games. When a member received enough points, she was entitled to a Pep Club pin. Members had a special section of the bleachers set aside for them at all home games. During the games they were required to wear Bulldog buttons.

During one of many tense moments at an important footbal' game, the Pep Club members anxiously await the outcome of a crucial play.

Math Club

General math to trigonometry — topics from these and other areas of mathematics were subjects of discussion among MATH CLUB members. Math Club provided a place where students could join together to develop and improve their mathematical ability. Mr. Nemecek, the Math Club sponsor, gave the club members equal opportunities to lead discussions of topics not usually touched upon in daily class-work. Occasionally, monthly meetings included the presentation of an especially interesting movie.

Rifle Club

RIFLE CLUB members, under the direction of Mr. Fee, grouped themselves according to their marksmanship; and each squad met on a different day of the week. During weekly sessions the members of this organization developed an appreciation for the proper care and use of small firearms and improved their marksmanship. Amid friendly competition on the shooting range in the school basement, the students developed an incentive for improvement.

Chess Club

After school each Friday, groups of students sat intently contemplating their next chess move. These weekly meetings provided the members of CHESS CLUB with an opportunity to improve their chess-playing ability. The meditative atmosphere was a place where students with this common interest met, played, and discussed the complicated moves involved. A Chess Club member evaluated his playing ability by accumulating points each time he won a game. Ranking themselves in this manner also made it possible for the students to be more evenly matched with their opponents when the club held chess meets with other schools.

Camera Club

Each month a group of shutterbugs with the assistance of Mr. Swanson met to discuss and display their latest camera shots. These photo enthusiasts, the members of CAMERA CLUB, learned the do's and don't's of photography. The students viewed films and slides on the uses of photography in various professions, as well as for personal enjoyment. The club members spent much of their time learning techniques which made ordinary camera shots interesting, and entered contests, such as the Eastman Kodak for high school students. The avid camera fans did much toward improving their ability and general technical knowledge of photography through the Camera Club.

Spanish Club

Taking advantage of the many opportunities to supplement their Spanish studies with other forms of Spanish culture, SPANISH CLUB members, guided by Mrs. Howey, had an educational and interesting year. One highlight of the year was the club's Christmas party, which included Spanish games and songs climaxed with the breaking of a pinata. To complete their year, they ate at a Spanish restaurant and saw a Spanish movie.

French Club

The annual Progressive Dinner was only one of the many events on the FRENCH CLUB's calendar. The club's trip to a French restaurant proved to be as informative as it was tasty. Before the trip, the members, under the supervision of Mr. Jay and Miss Thompson, studied French foods and basic French terms used in restaurants so they might order from the French menu. The members held a tea in May and invited their parents.

Pro Merito

Interest in classical studies was stressed this year in R-B's only social honor club, PRO MERITO. Under the direction of Mrs. Hoppert, Latin enthusiasts celebrated the Saturnalia holidays with L-T students and successfully carried out the annual Roman banquet. Togas were donned, and the clock was turned back to the glorious days of the Roman Empire. Culture combined with congeniality characterized this year's program.

German Club

German students, under the supervision of Mr. Koncius and Mr. Wilke, explored a wide scope of German culture at their monthly meetings this year. Fostering an interest in Germany's age-old traditions, the organization featured its annual dinner at an authentic German restaurant. Wiener schnitzel and hassenpfeffer filled the air with strange scents acquainting the students with German cuisine.

Beceus.

Under the guidance of Miss Edington and Mr. O'Neill, the fifty members of BECEUS rendered a specialized service to R-B. This team of sophomore girls sold refreshments at the football games, basketball games, and the conference track meet held at R-B. These refreshments quickly revived spirits as they satisfied the hunger of the famished sports enthusiasts. The girls, chosen by their teachers on the basis of leadership, character, and dependability, provided the Christmas decorations for the main hall and Alumni Lounge. In addition, the club purchased furnishings for the Alumni Lounge and kitchen with the five per cent profit from the sales. During the annual tea held in the spring, the new members were welcomed while the former members received service pins for serving during six games.

Scribblers

The many students interested in the business world joined SCRIBBLERS. All sophomores, juniors, and seniors who had taken one or more subjects in the field of business education were eligible to join this club. Sponsored by Misses Rotello and Hewitt, the members studied the different phases of the business world. Drawing up a new constitution was a major project this year. Any teachers teaching subjects in the business department were eligible for honorary membership. Through frequent visits and talks by executives from various firms, the members learned about modern business methods. SCRIBBLERS proved valuable to students readying themselves for a business career.

Under the guidance of Miss Douglass, the members of THE FUTURE HOMEMAKERS OF AMERICA increased their knowledge of homemaking. To welcome the new members, the officers held a tea in the fall to acquaint them with the club. At this tea the members became better acquainted with their new officers and made plans for the following year. To be eligible to join this organization, the girls had to participate in one year of a home economics course. This was the second year that F.H.A. was affiliated with the national organization. During their meetings the girls listened to guest speakers and saw special movies on the varied principles involved in running a home. The members found this variety of information helpful in planning their futures, for they realized that homemaking is important whether it is pursued as a profession or directly applied in a home.

F. T. A.

Among other vocational interest groups, THE FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA consisted of members interested in furthering their knowledge in the profession of teaching. During the year, members listened to many guest speakers and also saw several movies pertaining to new teaching techniques. The members visited teaching workshops and observed teaching techniques in various schools on teacher visitation day. Interested in both education and students, Mrs. Krause and Miss Lewis very capably sponsored the club this year. By attending meetings, the future teachers received points which were accumulated toward a pin. Those who had accumulated twenty-four points received pins at the Initiation Tea held in the spring for the new officers.

The FUTURE NURSES OF AMERICA took pride in their many charitable projects that transpired during the year. Among these projects were the bibs which they made for the children in hospitals and orphanages.

In addition to their charity work, F.N.A. was quite active in school functions and projects. Their float came in first place in the fifteen-dollar category at this year's Homecoming. They also sold blue and white shakers at the football games.

Most of the girls broadened their nursing interests by becoming "candy stripers" at different suburban hospitals.

Nurse's Assistants

With a tremendous amount of enthusiasm, a group of fourteen girls under the guidance of Miss Suchy, the school nurse, increased their knowledge of nursing. These girls, known as the NURSE'S ASSISTANTS, helped Miss Suchy in the operation of her office. Members of the guidance department recommended the assignment of these assistants, who aided in emergencies and administered medication with the nurse's permission. Many of the girls planned a career in nursing and hoped that this training would prove advantageous in preparation for this vocation.

Library Aides

With a spirit of service to the school, the thirty-six LIBRARY AIDES, including both boys and girls, helped with the many tasks of operating our school library. The members were selected through application on the basis of their interest in library work and their ability to work with other volunteers. Monthly meetings were held after school to discuss their work and fresh ideas. These meetings, often pot-luck suppers, were directed by the president, Marilyn Gabriel, who enjoyed many extra hours in her activity. In appreciation for the devoted service of the LIBRARY AIDES, the school honored them with a dinner in the spring.

Office Assistants

Many valuable services were rendered to Riverside-Brookfield High School this year by the OFFICE ASSISTANTS. These students, selected on the basis of grades and character, received their introduction to office procedure from Mrs. Grace Arnold. In their assignments, answering the phone became a major responsibility; it was necessary to be accurate, precise, and pleasant. These students began to realize the importance of orderly filing of papers so that important records would be easily accessible. Among other tasks, the students ran errands, aided visitors, and assumed general office duties.

Underclass

Displaying varied moods from day to day, energetic students confronted the problems of a complex scholastic program. Underclassmen met daily challenges with a variety of emotions as they strove to meet the high standards of Riverside-Brookfield High School. Freshmen, in a spirited show of exuberance, bounded through the halls, raced to club meetings, and shouted boisterous approval at athletic contests. Reflecting an air of greater reserve, sophomores showed determined effort in attaining scholastic excellence. Members of the Junior Class supported school activities faithfully, while keeping an active eye on scholarship. Seniors, with a backward glance, paused to reflect on a high school career too quickly coming to a close. These moods stirred the minds and hearts of R-B students as they moved closer to their goals.

Freshmen

With a burst of enthusiasm typical of an incoming FRESHMAN CLASS, the class of 1965 started its first high school year. Its members were easily recognized by their bewildered yet eager faces. Their varying reactions to high school life presented an interesting variety of moods. Some freshmen felt confused and insignificant; some were excited about the fast pace of R-B life, while others made themselves right at home.

At our pep rallies, the freshmen showed boundless school spirit and entered into our homecoming activities with a desire to make it a memorable event for all. Freshmen worked on floats which were entered in the homecoming parade, attended the pep rally preceding homecoming Saturday, thrilled at the burning of an L. T. lion in effigy, attended the football games, and thoroughly enjoyed the dance climaxing a hectic, but wonderful weekend.

Their first class activity was the election of School Council members. The eagerness the freshmen showed in this election represented their interest in good student government. Later, they elected officers. The class president, Rick Johnstone, led his class and served as its candidate for King of the Bundle Drive.

The objective of the class of 1965 was to make itself an integral part of R-B life. They achieved this by offering their finest efforts to make their school one they were proud to attend.

Sophomores

The SOPHOMORE CLASS, sponsored by Mr. Napier, met its first academic challenges of the year upon an introduction to geometry and Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar." They also found challenges in the athletic program. The Frosh-Soph football team played well and finished the season by trouncing York.

Sophomores held many positions of leadership throughout the school community. School Council was important to the sophomore class because it represented the influence of its representatives' participation in a wide range of activities.

Jesters, a freshman-sophomore dramatic organization, produced a play in the spring. Many of its sophomore members hoped that this experience might qualify them for Masque and Wig in their Junior year.

Class activities included money-raising projects, such as selling tickets for chartered busses to away football and basketball games, and the publication and sale of a student address and telephone directory. Another of the highlights for the sophomores was their class dance, which was held in January. The students labored to make their dance an unforgettable experience. A big thrill for many of the boys was their opportunity to drive the family car to school functions, for some of the sophomores had received their drivers' licenses before the school year ended as a result of the driver training program.

The class of 1964 looked to a future filled with enthusiasm, lit by R-B's lamp of learning. All felt that their first two years at R-B had established a firm foundation for further learning.

Sophomores put forth vigorous effort to make

Juniors

Class of 1963

Taking on the role of upperclassmen, the Class of '63 assumed qualities of leadership in the classroom, on the playing field, and in social organizations. Team-teaching classes in English, American history, and chemistry challenged the minds and abilities of juniors as they strove toward scholastic excellence. Advanced algebra problems, English poetry, and language translations puzzled juniors as they sought to gain greater knowledge in academic fields. As newcomers to the varsity teams, enthusiastic junior boys stressed skill in athletics and found wide interest and support from their classmates. Winning the game took on a fuller meaning as junior boys combined skill and determination on the field of play. Leadership in the junior year was marked by election to club offices and governing boards. As upperclass organizations, Hi-Y, Life Guard Club, Masque and Wig, and P. E. Leaders commanded the interest of many juniors. Backed by the enthusiasm and encouragement of the junior members of School Council, the Class of '63 won the Bundle Drive for the second consecutive year and saw their candidate crowned King of the Bundle Drive. In their many meetings throughout the year, junior class officers efficiently conducted the governing of the Junior Class. Most of the year was spent in planning and making preparation for the Junior-Senior Prom. In an effort to make their prom an outstanding one, the class officers were able to lease the beautiful McCormick Place as the site of this annual event. Under the guidance of their sponsor, Mr. Agin, the officers worked diligently and faithfully toward the goal of a successful junior year.

favorable attitudes in R-B's future leaders

Seniors Class of 1962

As graduation approached, seniors realized the special meaning behind caps and gowns, baccalaureate, commencement, and finally, the long-sought diploma. This marked the end of high school careers and the beginning of a new phase of life, marking an entrance into the adult world and a new-found independence. The members of the Class of 1962 faced new challenges with anxiety, but also with anticipation, as they looked back upon their years at R-B.

They laughingly remembered their first days spent as freshmen. It was confusing, but a definite part of high school life, to be electing class officers, council representatives, and Sharclub Senate members. They proudly remembered "El Dorado" as the best freshman dance in years.

As sophomores, these students became a more integral part of R-B by participating in sports, publishing the 1960 Student Directory, and preparing for their sophomore dance, "June in January."

After spending much time and effort in the sale of Christmas cards, they earned funds to hold a Junior-Senior Prom featuring Ralph Marterie's band at the Palmer House. As juniors, they took the National Merit Scholarship Test and made first attempts at college board examinations.

But uppermost in all seniors' minds was the 1961-1962 school year. Outstanding students received special recognition in the National Honor Society, and outstanding athletes were chosen for all-conference and all-state teams. Homecoming, the last Sharclub dance, planning for the class banquet, and arranging for the last dance of the school year, were only a few of the memorable events marking the end of their attendance at R-B.

But commencement only marked the beginning, for these students, capably equipped with knowledge and fresh outlooks, entered either the business world, or a school of higher learning.

National Honor Society

This year forty-six superior senior students received the highest honor R-B could award when they were initiated into the Riverside-Brookfield chapter of the National Honor Society. The students received their membership pins at a special assembly where the merits of the National Honor Society's members were explained by outstanding R-B alumni. Chosen for their qualities of scholarship, leadership, service, and character, the new members were rewarded for their four years of concentrated effort to maintain a high academic standing and to serve the school to the best of their ability. These students not only attained high scholastic achievement but also displayed their leadership qualities in many extracurricular activities at R-B.

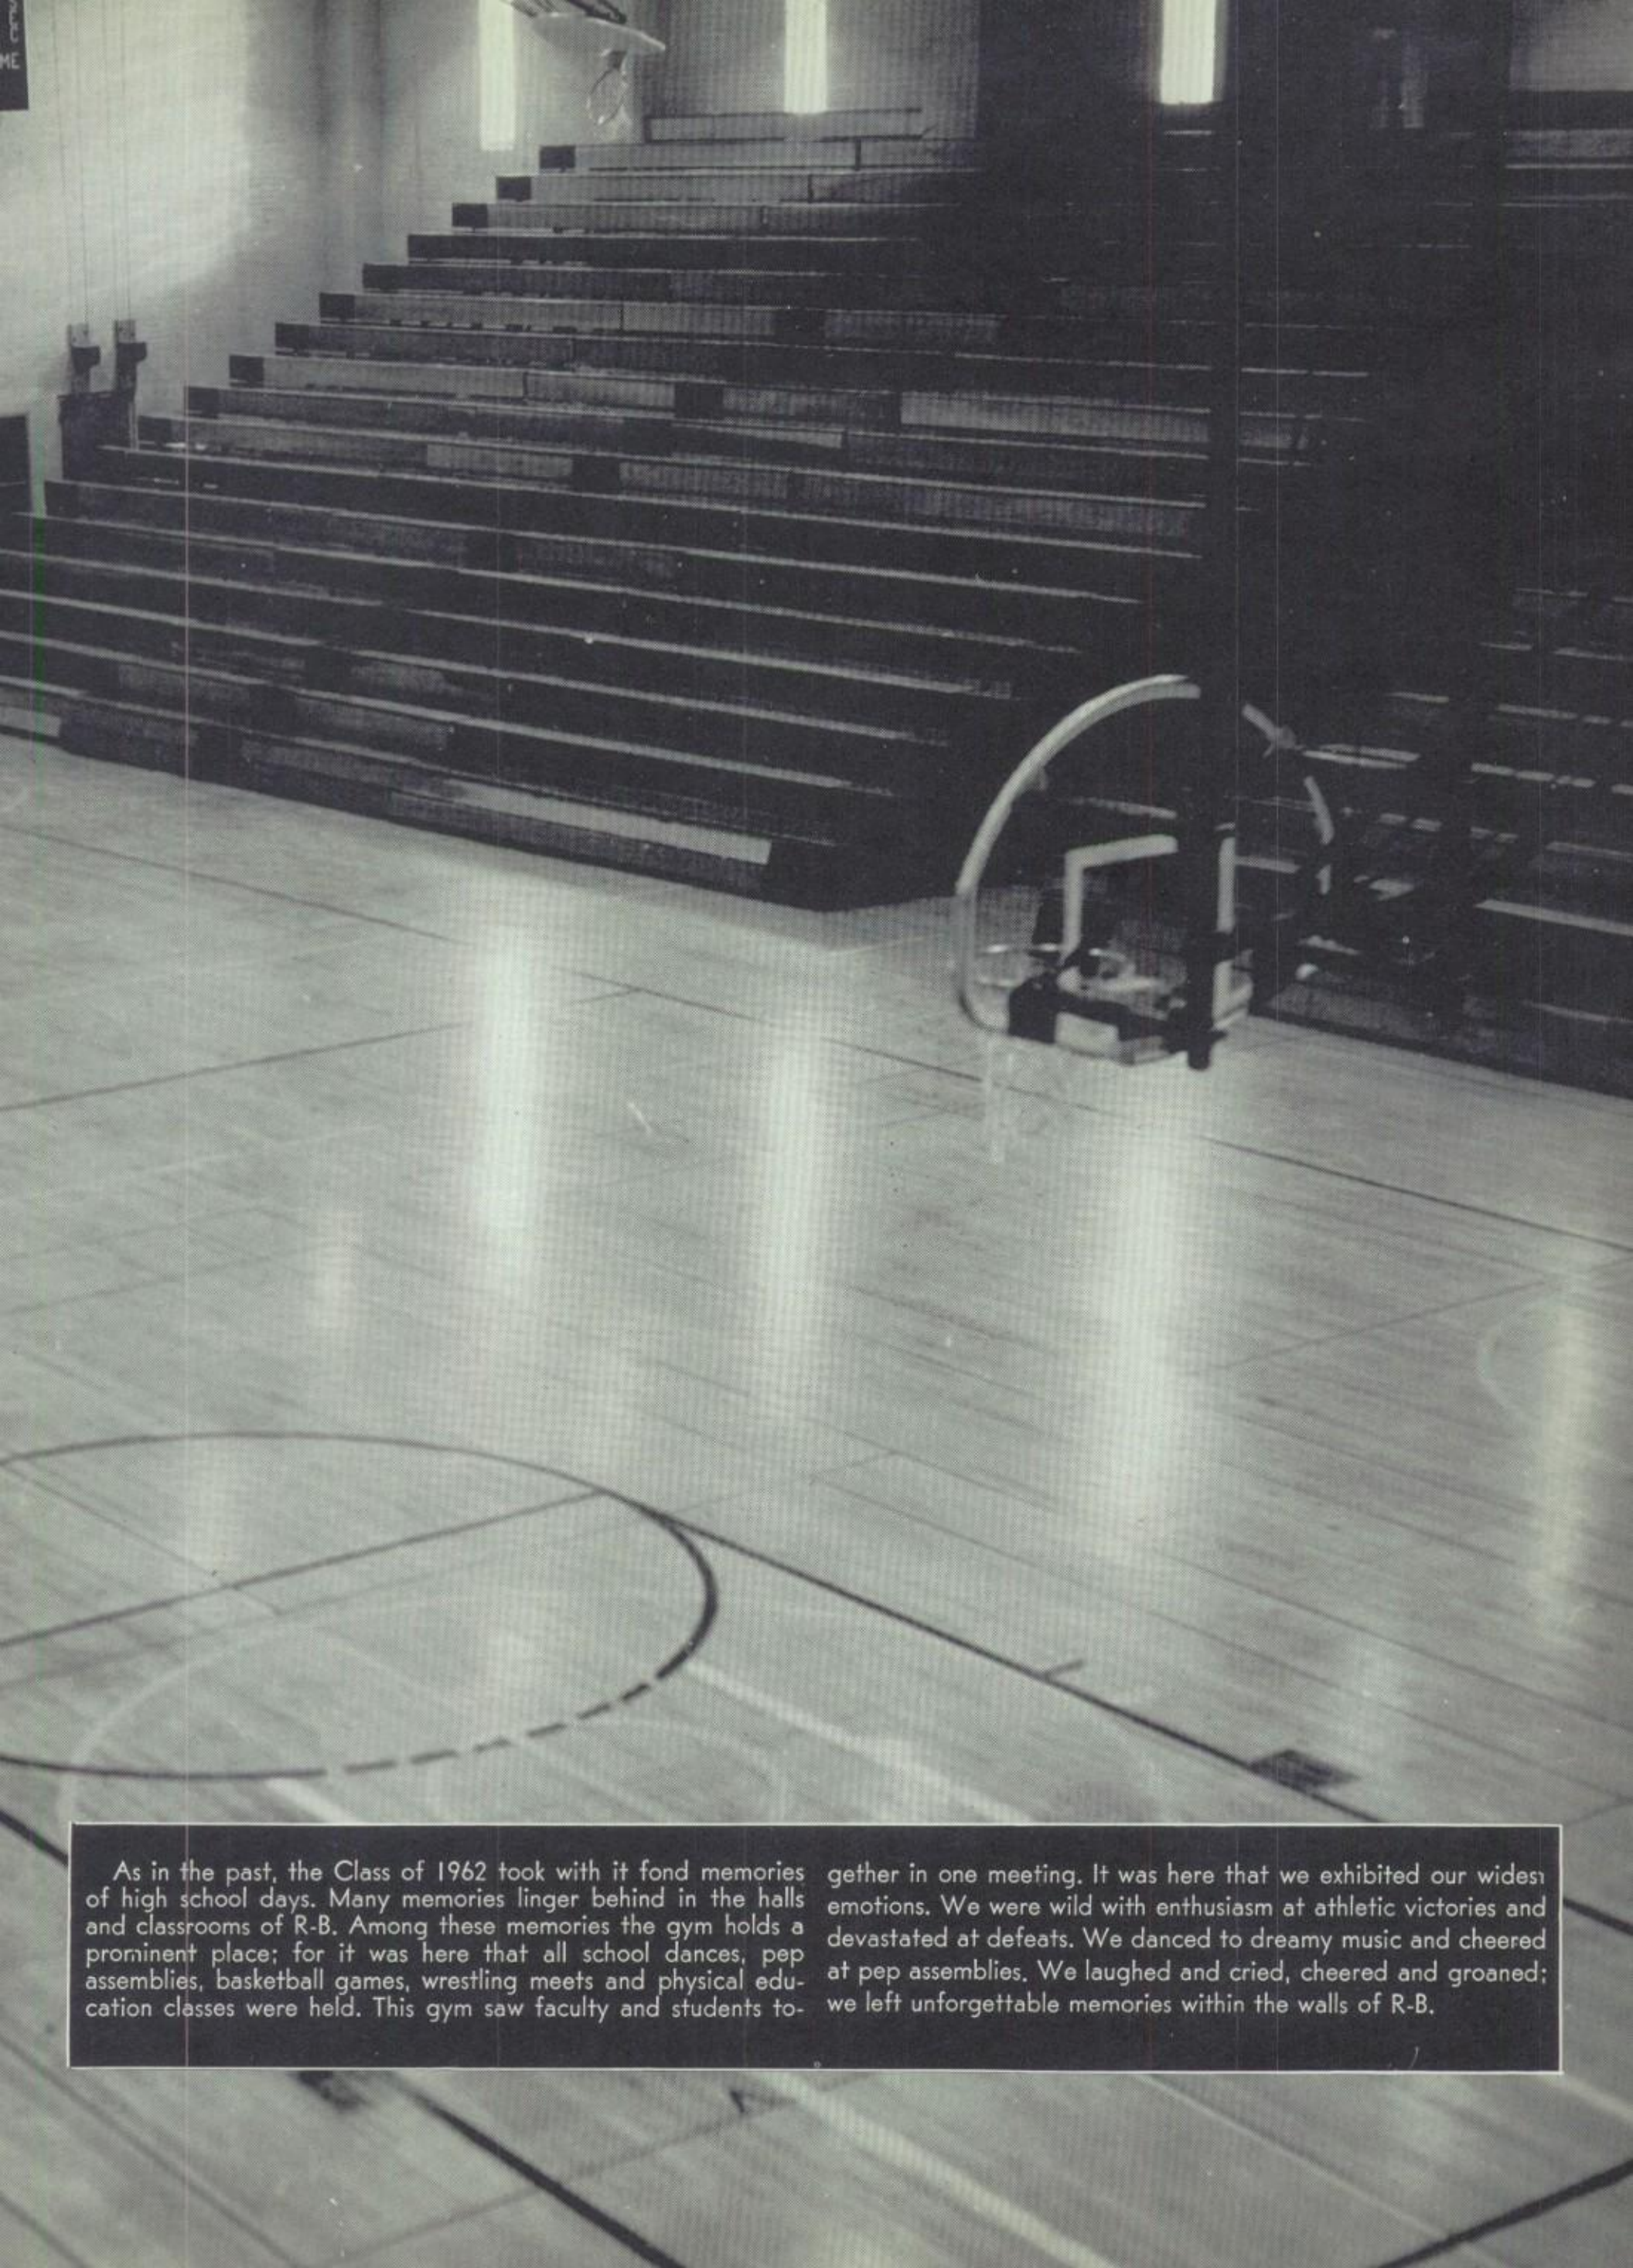
Outstanding Senior Students

Although every student at R-B is considered to be outstanding, each year the members of the graduating class vote to choose those seniors whom they consider to be outstanding. This year's OUTSTANDING SENIORS, chosen by their classmates in late January, all received at least one-third of the votes cast. Each senior was requested to nominate no more than ten of his fellow seniors on the basis of scholarship, character, leadership, dependability, and service to the school. In this popular, annual feature, the Rouser staff presents the results of this poll.



As in the past, the Class of 1962 took with it fond memories of high school days. Many memories linger behind in the halls and classrooms of R-B. Among these memories the gym holds a prominent place; for it was here that all school dances, pep assemblies, basketball games, wrestling meets and physical education classes were held. This gym saw faculty and students together in one meeting. It was here that we exhibited our widest emotions. We were wild with enthusiasm at athletic victories and devastated at defeats. We danced to dreamy music and cheered at pep assemblies. We laughed and cried, cheered and groaned; we left unforgettable memories within the walls of R-B.

The 1962 Rouser staff would like to thank Root Photographers, Chicago, Illinois; and The Norman King Co., Inc., Park Ridge, Illinois, our printers, for their professional assistance and co-operation in meeting our many demands. We would also like to extend our appreciation to Carolyn Collett and Virginia Fie of the public relations staff for their time and assistance. Special thanks is given to the administration, faculty, and students for their co-operation in our many hours of inconveniencing them. We would especially like to thank Mr. William G. Mohrhusen, for without his timely advice, endless ideas, and continuous prodding, this book could never have reached your hands.
